Biography

Zachary joined Lloyds PR solicitors in 2026 as a Crown Court Paralegal and is an aspiring criminal barrister. He was called to the Bar of England and Wales in 2026 and completed his Master's in Law at the University of Law.

Before joining Lloyds PR, Zachary gained practical experience within the criminal justice system as a Crown Court Usher at Reading Crown Court. This provided him with valuable insight into Crown Court procedure and the conduct of criminal proceedings.

Zachary previously worked within the legal team at Safeguard Global, a US-based global employment and workforce solutions company, gaining experience in investigations into data breaches and contact disputes.

Alongside his academic studies Zachary has undertaken significant pro bono work through The University of Law's Legal Advice Clinic. As part of his pro bono work, he has advised and assisted clients on legal matters, undertaken research and prepared written work. Zachary has also gained experience volunteering with the Citizens Advice Bureau, providing support and guidance to members of the public.
